Seen & Heard Around Murray

Sitting there this morning eating breakfast at the Holiday Inn and watching a number of birds congregated around the big sign on the highway.

There must have been ten thousand insects attracted by the lights on the sign and the birds were having a holiday. They were walking along the top of the shrubbery at the base of the sign combing for insects.

Several Grackles, Swallows, Kingbirds and Sparrows. The Sparrows have nests inside the sign.

We could not help but overhear a part of the conversation at the next table to us.

The man said something about a commercial venture and his wife reminded him that he was in Kentucky. Her remark was couched in derogatory tones that intimated that Kentucky would be the last place to entertain anything of a commercial nature.

Naturally we said nothing, but mentally noted that Kentucky would do well to improve its image in other areas.

This might be impossible because of preconceived ideas that people hold on to. Kentucky and Arkansas will suffer long because of the image they projected for some 100 years or better. Even though these two states have changed, people's ideas about them remain largely the same.

We still hope that Murray State's new stadium will get artificial turf. Injuries are reduced by over fifty per cent and this one factor would lead us to desire this turf.

Football is a good game, but too many young people have to leave it because of knee and leg injuries caused by hooking a clete in the sod.

Kenneth F. Harper, Commissioner of Public Information of the state, was a visitor in the office of the Ledger and Times Thursday.

Rotary Club Hears Evangelist At Meeting Here Last Thursday

By A. C. GARROTT
Unless America lifts its moral standards, it is going to be as decadent as the ancient Roman Empire, the Murray Rotary Club was told Thursday.

Speaking on the things that make America great, Johnny Ramsey, Corsicana, Tex., minister who is conducting a series of meetings in Murray at the Seventh and Poplar Streets Church of Christ, told the Rotarians:

"Although the Bible teaches us to honor our rulers, there has never been a time in American history when more people grumbled at authority and spoke evil of dignitaries than right now."

"In view of our past history and current events, could it be possible that in our race to be supreme in many areas, we are forgetting the basic fundamental things that have really made America great?" he asked.

The answer, he noted, lies in the realization "that our strength is not in the weapons of war, not in the things we have gauded to be 'the thing,' but in spiritual power and strength, moral conviction, honesty and integrity."

"If you don't believe that," he went on, "live three years of your life outside the United States, as my family and I did in Adelaide, Australia, and hear of America through a prejudiced press and see only the sordid things of the United States spread all over the front

Petersburg Bank Ordered Closed Friday

FRANKFORT, Ky. (UPI) — The Kentucky Department of Banking Friday ordered the Farmers Bank of Petersburg closed and has taken charge of all its assets.

E. Frederick Zopp, executive officer for the Department of Banking, said it was the first such action against a state bank since the depression of the 1930s.

Zopp said the bank is one of the smallest in the state with assets of less than $1 million. Petersburg is a small community in Boone County, with a population of 390.

State Banking Commissioner E. G. Adams is in Missouri attending a bankers conference, but released a statement through his office.

"The step became necessary when an annual examination by state and federal supervisory agencies disclosed an impaired capital position which subsequently reached a state of insolvency beyond any reasonable hope of recovery," Adams said.

"The bank incurred its losses through unsafe and unsound banking practices, specifically loans in excess of legal lending limits, large out-of-area loans to unsecured borrowers, and the related use of brokered funds," Adams added.

Adams said deposit insurance of up to $20,000 for each qualified account is in effect. "The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC) will act as receiver of the bank's available assets," he said.

Irregularities in the bank's operation were first noted in December of last year, according to Zopp. He said an inspection followed in April and May which resulted in the closing.

J. J. Hicks is the president of the bank.

Reading Club To Be Sponsored By Library Here

A vacation reading club will be organized this summer at the Calloway County Public Library. Children in grades one thru six may register in the library during the week of June 29 — July 3.

The theme of this year's contest will be "Out of This World" based on the space flights to the moon. The children will be divided into two teams with ages equally divided.

A large bulletin board depicting the space scene will daily record the progress of the flights and two rocket ships named Apollo 14 and Apollo 15 will represent each team's flight. The number of books read will determine how far the rocket will travel.

The team that reaches the moon first will win. Children will be expected to read books on their grade level. Each participant should turn in the number of books read once each week.

The contest will begin July 6 and July 31.

Free bookmarks, reading lists and registration cards will be given to each child who registers. An achievement certificate will be awarded to each child at the end of the contest recording the number of books read.

"All children in this grade level are welcome to participate," a spokesman for the library said.

133 Calloway County Students Make Dean's List At University

Murray, Ky. — A record number of 985 Murray State University students representing almost 15 per cent of the total enrollment have been listed on the Dean's List for the spring semester.

By United Press International

Today is Saturday, June 27, the 178th day of 1970 with 187 to follow.

The moon is between its last quarter and new phase.

The morning stars are Mercury and Saturn.

The evening stars are Venus, Mars and Jupiter.

On this day in history:

In 1787 English historian Ward Gibbon completed writing "The Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire."

In 1893 a major economic depression began as prices on the New York Stock Exchange collapsed.

In 1950 President Truman ordered U.S. naval and air forces to help repel the North Korean invasion of South Korea.

In 1960 more than 100 persons were killed when a typhoon struck Luzon in the Philippines.

A thought for the day: American writer Bret Harte said: "One big vice in a man is apt to keep out a great many smaller ones."

CHIEFS KILLED

MANILA (UPI) — Communist terrorists killed eight village chiefs Wednesday who earlier in the day had agreed to begin a campaign against the "new people's army," the military wing of the Communist Huk.

The chiefs were lined up beside a jeep in which they were riding in Tarlac province and shot, police said.

More than 600,000 Canadians fought in Europe during World War I, according to the Defense Department.

Baseball Configuration - Infield Diagram - "Sliding Boxes"

The 1970 Major League All Star Game, scheduled for the evening of July 14, will be played in Cincinnati's brand new Riverfront Stadium on a field covered almost entirely with Monsanto Company's AstroTurf Stadium Surface. The new look infield, unlike any other in baseball, was designed and developed by Monsanto at Cincinnati's request and approved by the baseball rules committee on a five-year experimental basis. Only the pitcher's mound and home plate areas are standard. The rest of the playing area, including the infield, is covered with AstroTurf except for dirt "sliding boxes" (see diagram), 10 feet wide by 20 feet long into and away from the three bases.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Bill Rigney has fallen in love with one of his pitchers and before you begin wondering what in the world is baseball coming to, relax, because you'll fall in love with this kid, too.

Ricalbert Blyleven is one of a kind. He's only 19, he was born in Holland, he has been in the big leagues with the Minnesota Twins less than four weeks and still blushes at some of the compliments paid him. Most important of all, he can pitch. Rigney isn't the only one taken with the stringy blue-eyed Dutch kid.

"He's so smooth," says Ted Williams, imitating the young righthander's motion. "He reminds me of Monte Pearson. Remember Monte Pearson? He was one helluva pitcher and everything he did was smooth."

Rigney handles Blyleven like a baby, knowing that Bert, as the Twins call him, doesn't even really have a full year in pro ball. The Twins drafted him last June and he worked a total of 13 games in the Gulf Coast and Florida State leagues compiling a 2.81 earned run percentage with Sarasota and a 1.46 average with Orlando.

From there he went to the Florida Instructional League in the fall and turned in a perfect 8-0 record. The Twins sent him to Evansville in the American Association this year and since bringing him up June 1, Rigney has started Blyleven five times.

The Holland hummer has beaten both Washington and Boston but seven innings is the most he has ever worked at one time.

Blyleven, whose family emigrated to Canada when he was two years old and then moved to Southern California when he was six, isn't completely used to the idea he's a big leaguer yet. He's learning every day though and enjoying himself like a kid on his first visit to a carnival.

"I remember when I was told to report to the Twins," he says, still rather wide-eyed over the recollection. "I was in Oklahoma City and I left there 2:30 in the morning for Boston. That's where the Twins were playing. I was so excited I didn't sleep at all. When I finally did go to sleep, I slept until 4 o'clock the next day."

Found by Twins' scout Dick Wiencek and signed by Jess Flores, the old pitcher, Blyleven says the big leagues are all he imagined they would be.

"The thing I can't get over are the fans," he says. "They are so much for you. So many of them in Minnesota have come over to me and told me how much they like to have me on their team. You have no idea the feeling it gives you."

DODGERS' NO. 1 FAN—Holding up some of her ticket stubs, Mrs. Lillie Stewart, 88, will be honored at pre-game ceremonies when the Los Angeles Dodgers play their 1,000th league game in Los Angeles July 1. She has attended every home game since the Dodgers moved to Los Angeles in 1958.

KENTUCKY LAKE WEEKLY FISHING REPORT

by GARY NANCE

It's that time of week again, folks, when I try to bring you the latest fishing reports.

First off with the dock reports:

Cypress Springs reports that largemouth bass are doing fair. They are being caught on plastic worms, Hellbenders and a Cordell Spot.

Cropper are still biting on shiners about 12 to 15 feet deep. Bluegill are doing great on artificial bait and on worms. Catfish are fair on the bottom with night crawlers.

Ken Lake Boat Dock as reported to me says fishing is great. Bass and Stripes are being caught trolling with white Bombers and Spoonplugs. Fishing under the bridge is still good.

Cropper fishing is slow but still biting at a depth of 15 to 8 feet on shiners. Catfishing is slow on night crawlers. Bluegill is great on poppers and worms. Lynnhurst Resort and Boat Dock reports that Stripes are good by trolling with Bombers and Shysters trailers. Bluegill good on crickets and small worms. Catfish slow but still hitting on night crawlers.

Walleye pike is fair and still hitting on shiners. Cropper is slow but biting at 14 to 23 feet on shiners.

Blood River Boat Dock reports this week that bass are fair in the bushes on purple worms and yellow Bumble Bees. Catfish fair on bottom with worms. Cropper fair on shiners at 12 to 18 feet. Bluegill is good on worms and crickets.

Two large mouth bass were caught Wednesday night by a man who wants to remain anonymous for the reason of having to buy a round of cold drinks for his fellow workers. His fish were nice though, one weighed 3 pounds and 4 pounds. He was fishing in the weed beds with a fly rod using a fly rod Hula Popper that was black.

That's all for this week and I hope it will help you. If you go fishing this week come by and let me know how you do on your trip. Have a happy weekend and I'll see you next week.

Conference Planned In Marshall

BENTON, Ky.—Two pastor's and laymen's conferences have been scheduled during the second week of July.

Jonathan Creek Baptist Assembly in Marshall County will host the first conference July 6-8. The second conference will be held at Campsville College July 9-10.

Headlining the program this year are Herschel Ford, Gaines Dobbins and Clifford Ingle.

Ford, a leading Southern Baptist preacher and pastor, currently serves the San Jose Baptist Church, Jacksonville, Fla., as pastor. He assumed that pastorate after going into retirement.

Leading the emphasis on church administration will be Dobbins. One of the best known Baptists in Kentucky, Dobbins was for many years a professor at Southern Seminary. Dobbins is retired and lives in Birmingham, Ala., where, among other things, he works as a chaplain.

Ingle will conduct the Bible study portion of the conferences. He is professor of religious education at Midwestern Baptist Theological Seminary in Kansas City. Previously, Ingle served as pastor, military chaplain and college professor.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Labor Department has announced new factory hiring in May remained at the five-year low reached the previous month.

At the same time, the department said Thursday, the layoff rate eased and there were indications of increased job opportunities in the months ahead.

pages of the world's newspapers.

"When you see our nation from afar," he said, "it will make you a better American and more determined to do what you can to make it strong."

Touching on the Supreme Court decision prohibiting prayer in public schools, Ramsey, who has four children, said:

"I have never thought it was the duty of the public school system, or any school system, to teach my children the Bible, or to teach them how to pray. That's the province of the home and the church."

The Texas minister went on to say that he was not so much concerned about the absence of prayer in the public schools as he was "the absence of Bible preaching in the pulpits, and the absence of parents who will train their children to walk in the footsteps of the Lord.

"These are some of the things which are basic and fundamental and which you and I can do something about," he said.

To emphasize this point, Ramsey told of a service he held in the bush country of central east Africa and attended by 270 men and women, including five village chiefs.

"Every one was barefoot," he said, "and some had walked 40 miles to hear the Bible preached. Nearly every one had a Bible with them although until 15 years ago there wasn't a Bible printed in their language and not until 30 years ago was their language in written form."

"Yet," he went on, "I found some of the most brilliant Bible students and some of the most ardent followers of Christ I have ever met."

"I noticed their rapt attention as the Bible was being preached, and I noticed, too," he said, "that the influence of the Bible was causing them to put on more and more clothes."

"Then I came back to find people who are not willing to drive six blocks in air-conditioned automobiles, to an air-conditioned church to hear a 30-minute sermon, and we are taking more and more clothes off."

"It makes me wonder who the heathen really are."

Ramsey was introduced by Wilson Gantt.

Guests at the meeting included Col. Tom Brown, Murray; Dewey A. Stubblefield, Owensboro, and Don Cameron, Virden, Ill.

Camping Area At Big Bone Park Nears Completion

FRANKFORT, Ky. — Big Bone Lick State Resort Park will have a 62-site camping area with electrical outlets and a service building by August.

Work on the project began last November, W. James Host, commissioner of Parks says.

A fresh water storage tank has been completed, with black-top to be laid and grass to be planted after sewer lines are laid. A sewage treatment plant also is under construction.

An access road to the site will be built by the Highway Department. Construction of the road will begin July 1 and be completed by August 30.

An overlook and picnic area on a high bluff near the camping area, are planned.

Veterans Are Reminded To Return Cards

The Veterans Administration again reminded veterans training under the G.I. Bill to return their certification of attendance cards. For example, veterans attending colleges must return these cards during the last full month of every enrollment period. Those training below college level must return them every month.

The cards are needed for two reasons. One is that VA computers are programmed to prepare these educational allowance checks only after the cards have been received. The other is that if the attendance card of the veteran attending college is not returned at the end of the semester, he cannot be automatically enrolled under the G.I. Bill for subsequent sessions that he may plan to attend.

Since final checks do not ar-

Breathalyzers In Use In Every County

FRANKFORT, Ky. — Leslie Leach, director of the Traffic Safety Institute at Eastern Kentucky University, has announced that there is now at least one "breathalyzer" in each county in Kentucky.

"The breathalyzer," Leach explained, "is an instrument that measures the alcohol content in a person's bloodstream. If, upon arrest, an offender shows 0.10 per cent or more alcohol concentration, he is charged with driving while under the influence of intoxicants."

The charge if proved in court results in automatic suspension of license for a six month period and a fine of from $100 to $500.

If a driver refuses to take the breathalyzer or similar test, he will also lose his license, as stated in Kentucky's implied consent law.

Leach called widespread use of the breathalyzer a great breakthrough in gaining convictions for the offense, since there is longer is any doubt as to the sobriety of violators. "As the situation now stands," he said, "there should be no excuse whatsoever for a judge's amending or dismissing such a case. The evidence will be conclusive and the offender will be caught dead to right."

The announcement came as a boon to Governor Nunn's campaign against the drinking driver, recently launched in cooperation with the Kentucky Traffic Safety Coordinating Committee, of which Leach is a member.

rive until most college students have left the campus, the VA reminded veterans to be sure to make arrangements to have their checks forwarded by the post office.

Veterans must also report promptly to the VA any change in training programs which would affect the amount of their checks. College veterans would do this by letter, and below college level trainees on their monthly punched card, Form 21E-6553a.

Veterans or dependents interested in G.I. Bill training or more information about veterans' programs were urged to contact the nearest VA office.

Park Lodge Reservations Ahead Of '69

FRANKFORT, Ky. — State Park Lodge reservations are running well ahead of last year, according to figures released by Parks Commissioner W. James Host.

"If the present trend continues," said Host, "1970 will break all records for telephone calls processed, reservations filled, reservations unable to fill and general information calls received by our central reservations service."

The report includes figures for the first five months of this year and shows calls processed at 1739, up 14 per cent; reservations filled, 6376, up nine per cent; reservations unable to fill at 10,167, up 17 per cent and general information calls are up 13 per cent.

The report also notes that in the first five months of 1970, 9749 rooms and 2224 cottages have been rented.

Host attributes the rise in Kentucky Park vacations to several factors:

- +increased recreational facilities in many state parks.
- +increase in promotional literature distributed by the Department of Public Information.
- +increased effort on the part of the parks system to attract conventions meetings and seminars.

The addition of a new resort park, Lake Barkley, the flagship of the system, is another factor in the large increase in park use. Barkley Lodge, which cost over $5.5 million to build adds 124 rooms to the parks overnight accommodation—a park or shrine within 50 miles of every Kentuckian.

Gov. Louie B. Nunn pledged early in his administration that overnight accommodations at state parks would be increased by 50 per cent by the end of 1971.

Historymobile Gets Donation From Colonels

FRANKFORT, Ky. — A check for $30,000 from the Honorable Order of Kentucky Colonels will allow the state Historical Society to start a "historymobile" to be used in the more remote areas of the commonwealth.

George N. Chinn, director of the Kentucky Historical Society, in announcing receipt of the gift, said the money will be used to buy a vehicle and equip it with advanced audiovisual aids for the presentation of history.

Another $5000 was donated earlier for the purpose by Mrs. Nell Edwards of Versailles.

"We'll use replicas of Boone's guns, historical relics as well as tape and microfilm machines to present history," Chinn said. "The historymobile will circulate in those areas of Kentucky farthest from museums and historical landmarks," he said.

"Working in conjunction with local historical societies and young historians' clubs, which combined have a membership in excess of 15,000, we anticipate the program eventually to be the most successful ever launched by the Kentucky Historical Society," Chinn said.

HORSESHOE GROUP ANNOUNCES 1970 STATE SCHEDULE

The 1970 schedule has been announced by the Kentucky State Horseshoe Pitchers Association consisting of six tournaments featured by the annual state championships to be held September 5th and 6th at the city park courts of the Georgetown Horseshoe Club, Georgetown, Kentucky on ten brand new regulation courts.

The Kentucky Horseshoe Pitchers Association was formed just four years ago with 33 men and has grown each year and now consists of 70 men, 9 women, and 6 boys. The Kentucky Association is one of fifty-four state associations in the USA, and Canada affiliated with the National Association of Horseshoe Pitchers, an incorporated non-profit organization, devoted to promoting the game by standardizing the rules and playing procedures.

There is a place in the association for everybody regardless of their experience or degree of playing skill. All tournaments are conducted in "classes" with the entrants grouped on the basis of their skill as determined by past performance or a qualifying round at the start of each event. Thus even beginners compete with opponents of the approximate skill.

Membership is state-national combined and is required for all sanctioned tournament play. Entry fees for tournaments vary. A monthly magazine is published by the National Association.

For additional or specific information write to LaVern H. Hawkins, Kentucky Horseshoe Pitchers Association, Secretary, 126 Erlanger Road, Erlanger, Kentucky 41018.

DIDN'T LAST LONG

ORANGE, N.J. (UPI) — The President of the Orange Board of Education hired a stenographer to take minutes of the meeting.

Ten minutes into Tuesday night's meeting she noted that the board had decided to fire the stenographer.

ECONOMY MEASURE

LONDON (UPI) — The Wine-makers' Circle of the Navy Department is proposing Britain launch its ships with homemade elderberry wine instead of foreign wines.

The reason — it would save the British Treasury about 12 $1.50 a whack.

THE WINCHESTER PROOF

EDITED BY THE WINCHESTER NEWS BUREAU, 460 PARK AVENUE, NEW YORK, N.Y. 10022

FISHERMAN'S PARADISE ... Rising out of the Caribbean, 30 miles southeast of Belize, British Honduras, are a chain of low-lying cays some 38 miles long which are immediately surrounded by bonefish flats and channels abounding with tarpon. The encircling barrier reef swarms with snappers, jacks, albacore, grouper, cobia and barracuda. Bonito, dolphin, king mackerel, blue marlin, sailfish, wahoo and school tuna can be found in the deep blue on the outer edge of the reef.

These are the Turneffe Islands, a favorite resort area for discerning fishermen and their families. Winchester Adventures, Inc., the wholesale operator of international sport and adventure travel, is offering a series of special-rate tours to this piscatorial paradise for the 1970 season. Detailed information on these tours, which are commissionable to travel agents, can be obtained from Winchester Adventures, 460 Park Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10022.

BEGINNER'S BASIC ... The word "rib" most commonly refers to one of a series of small bones which support the spinal cord. It can also mean a prank or a small joke. In shooting terminology, however, the word rib refers to the raised bar atop the barrel of a shotgun. This bar, which forms the sighting plane, extends from the breech to the muzzle and is used on all double-barreled shotguns. Many shotguns have barrels that are fitted with a ventilated rib. This is a sighting bar which is supported by stanchions, forming a series of open spaces between the rib and the barrel. Its purpose is to break up the heat mirage that shimmers up from a hot barrel after continuous firing and which distorts the shooter's view of the target. Ventilated ribs are most commonly used on trap and skeet guns.

MARMOTA MONAX ... A member of the squirrel family, Marmota Monax is rivaled only by the cottontail rabbit as a popular target for varmint hunters. He can be found in almost every region of North America but is most numerous in the eastern United States where he is prey to almost every farm boy who owns a .22. What you call him depends on what part of the country you hail from. In the northern states he is generally referred to as woodchuck and in the southern states he is most commonly known as groundhog.

In appearance, Marmota resembles a large squirrel. His average length is two feet, with males slightly larger than females. He is short-legged with hind legs between three and five inches in length and has a flat tail which averages six inches. He has extremely strong claws which enable him to dig deep burrows in a short period of time. His coloring varies but is usually brownish, with the underside ranging from white to brown.

Originally a woodland animal, this pesky little creature can now be prevalently found in open fields, meadows and pasture land. He lives in deep burrows which he digs himself, and is usually the unwanted tenant of a farmer, making his home in the cultivated soil, and living off the crop. In the wintertime, when food becomes scarce, he retreats to his burrow and goes into hibernation — a deep, deathlike sleep during which all body functions cease. This period lasts from four to six months, depending on the climate of the area. As the winter season draws to an end, he will periodically emerge to test the weather and the soil, ending his hibernation period only when the snow has melted and the ground is soft.

Because of his burrowing habits, the woodchuck is elusive and often difficult to hunt. Some states consider him a game animal and protect him during certain seasons, but in most areas he is classed as vermin and considered a legal target at any time. Since the chuck rarely ranges far from his burrow or some other convenient hole, the hunter must stalk his prey stealthily and quietly. At the slightest sound of approaching danger, the animal will instantly and completely disappear. Even when the hunter has successfully completed his stalk and has reached the best possible firing position, he must be extremely careful. A seemingly harmless glance above his cover or the click of his rifle's safety can result in lost game. Even the glare of the sun off the rifle barrel can alert his quarry to the danger around him.

Several types of rifles can be used successfully to harvest the woodchuck. Varmint rifles, which come in a variety of calibers, enable the hunter to zero in on his target at long ranges and are growing in popularity. But, the favorite firearm in this sport is still the .22 rimfire rifle. Chuck hunters like it because it makes little noise and the ammunition is inexpensive. But, mostly they like it because its use requires a more skillful stalk and creates a more challenging target — and that is what provides the thrill of a woodchuck hunt.

Guided Walks In Land Between the Lakes

Nature hikes, movies, organized play, campfires, and group sings are part of the supervised recreation program now in full swing in the family campgrounds and the Conservation Education Center in Land Between the Lakes. The program is conducted by college students from Southern Illinois University, Murray State University, and North Carolina State University who are majoring in recreation and outdoor education. Although the recreational activities in the three family campgrounds are confined to campers within each of these areas, the program in the Conservation Education Center (CEC) will be open to the public. Interpretive walks beginning at Center Station and tours of Empire Farm will be among the programs conducted each Saturday, Sunday, and Wednesday afternoon in the CEC. The program will begin on July 1 and run through the month of August. For time schedules on the guided tours in the CEC contact Center Station or the information office at Golden Pond, Kentucky, phone 502-924-5602.

Piney Campground, located just a few miles north of the Scott Fitchburg Bridge on Kentucky Lake, is one of the most popular family campgrounds in Land Between the Lakes. There are 100 big tent and trailer sites with electrical outlets at this year-round campground, and an additional 100 will open later this summer. Many of the wooded campsites at Piney are located near the gently sloping shoreline where swimming areas are available. Piney Creek is just across the lake from Cypress Bay, one of the many excellent bass and crappie fishing bays on Kentucky Lake. The long, willow-lined strip of islands between Cypress Bay and Blood River also provides good bass and crappie fishing for campers. Although boats and motors are not available at Land Between the Lakes, there are commercial operations just outside the area that will bring boats and motors in to campers upon request. Campers can check at the campground registration office for information on boat and motor rentals. Boswell Landing, three miles north of Piney on Panther Bay, is one of the eight free lake access areas located along the Kentucky Lake shoreline in Land Between the Lakes. Boswell Landing has a concrete boat launching ramp, picnic tables and grills, drinking water, and chemical toilets.

Trigg County students are among the many school groups that find summer school "fun" when they can study in the outdoors.

The Conservation Education Center in Land Between the Lakes is the site of six 1-week sessions designed to promote better reading and expand vocabulary through the study of weather, ecology, geology, and social studies. About 80 students from the third through the eighth grades in the Trigg County system participate each week in the classes which are taught by 8 instructors.

by LEE SMITH

Welcome to our vacation. The first eight days brought continuous rain and little else. Met a few commercial fishermen, also a limited number of fishing for fun people — about the same report from all. I must be in the right place at the wrong time or else some one is holding out.

Otis and Frank Bucy hauled in a nice catch of white channel catfish Wednesday morning. Didn't count 'em — too busy checking on people and hounds. One is only allotted the few moments necessary to load the boats and make ready for home; therefore you grab what information you can and part of it is naturally gonna be the hunting dogs. Otis enjoyed squirrel hunting until a mild heart attack (two years ago) slowed the hill climbing down. He now has four Beagle hounds and goes in for rabbit hunting. The Beagles are Jack (the old fellow) and the three younguns, Sissy, Charlie Brown and Toby. Frank joins dad in fishing and hunting.

Mr. Bucy says Glenn Stubblefield has been bringing home the bass lately. Glenn leaves out from Cypress Resort and chooses his favorite site for big bass. Both gentlemen are employed at Murray Manufacturing Plant.

Spoke briefly to Vernon and Kenny Williams. They too camped out near "stenching banks" and landed 85 catfish. Vernon hooked a whale who immediately ran under the boat, taking hook, line and sinker on down the lake. Disgusted and disgruntled he gave up then and there. Oozing rain drops like pouring water through a strainer and attempting to get into dry boots Vernon rips off a boot heel and a section of hand as well. A deep and painful laceration and that didn't do much to improve his disposition. Cheer up ol' buddy, it isn't everyday one loses the BIG fish, a hunk of hand and a heel — all without really trying!

No opportunity to evaluate Kenny's misfortunes but the impression was this would have been the perfect time to stay in bed. Some days it just doesn't pay to get up.

A brief glimpse of Herman Kelly Ellis the other day, in a grocery store — no idea which one, I'm still lost. Never time for information from this gentleman, he is moving constantly and swiftly. Herman K. has a very special talent for brightening your day if you only get a quick hello. He doesn't change with the years except maybe a little nicer — and he was one of the good guys even in school.

That word school brings more memories of other schools and other places. Nell (McClure) Smith, wheeling a large cattle truck as effortlessly as this mower was handling me. We stopped the respective machines and chatted a moment. Berline (Wisehart) Loving, is employed at Klines Grocery and it's a pleasure to see her on rare occasions. A moment spent with old friends is refreshing, even to a confirmed hermit.

Now we are completely off the subject of fishing, might as well go all the way. Finally met Mrs. Estelle Spiceland, last week. Have followed her "Down Concord Way" article for years, know all of her family and friends but never met her. We walked and talked flowers, mutual friends and bermuda grass. A very brief visit but very rewarding. Of course she is a wonderful person, after all she is a sister to Otis and Guy Lovins, Mr. Linus Spiceland (the groom) stayed away from this flower talk. He is a most likeable gentleman!

As landlord and lady, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Spiceland don't fit the movie version of a villainous scalloway scheming to throw you off your property. They don't even tie you on the railroad track but they are too busy working and minding their own business to concentrate on meanness.

These are the type of people you wish the world was filled with. If everyone was as fair and honest as they are well there would be no cause to appreciate them so much! A few thorns are necessary if you are to enjoy the beauty of the roses. Which reminds me, went outside in the early dawn and found a bucket of flower slips (plants) on the porch, which they had left without saying a word. That's a switch that will take some getting used to. Suffice it to say, kindness in any measure or form is appreciated and rewarded.

Have been hollerin' at Charles Williams daily as he passed on the tractor going to work. Only one thing wrong with that — Charles and his bride have been vacationing in Virginia and other points of interest, for the past week. Actually it is Willie Smith I've been speaking to. After all a little mistake like that is excusable considering I haven't seen Willie in some thirty years. I may not know where the best fish are to be found but ask me about people. I know the best and the "not so best."

Speaking of people at their best, really dealt Dot Phillips a low blow. She absorbed a lot of ribbin' about the four boys and a girl bit. Seems the office personnel had a field day at her expense. You know little things like, "Dot I've worked with you every day and I didn't suspect a thing". Our motto is hit 'em fast, hard and low, then split. Allow us to introduce you to the off spring and their parents. Pix No. 1. Feast your eyes on five beautiful Boston Terrier young-uns. They are about six weeks old now.

This champ is officially "The Phillips Little Chigger". Chigger is seven years old, AKC registered and quite the man around town, as you can see. He is from quality stock with his dad being Merriitts Little Chic and the sire is Clairbarnes Mike. It's no wonder he owns the Ed Phillips family. A finer kennel of Terriers would be hard to find. If a picture is worth a thousand words, then take a good look at these three pictures. At least two of these pups are taken but the others will be for sale. For complete information call the Hortons or the Phillips family. This article has been in the can for weeks so check your facts.

Ed Collie reports a "not too surprising fact", seems Will Ed Stokes and Jack Dodd are both gunnin' for me. Boy's I'm "layin' low" till the air cools a bit. Sure we ran the story on Jack without the picture and we flubbed it a bit in other places also, but that's the name of the game. So ease up boys it'll be worse next time and that's a promise!

As for that vacation three weeks ago, it rained 8 days out of 9 (wee-ends included) so one fishing day resulted. Tommy Johnson, Jackie Vaughn and Ed Smith took advantage of the fair weather. Brought home 27 croppie and some catfish.

Attention B. C. Albritten: Give us your fishing report. Bet he is hauling 'em in every chance he gets. Earl Steele: Where is the picture of the bird dogs? Ted Atkins: The Twin Lakes Club should report. The small fry will be in to answer the phone this time.

As usual we're holding up the "printed words" so will leave you with best wishes for a safe and happy vacation and good funn'n' what ever your choice may be. Let us celebrate "Flag Week" 52 weeks a year!

Incidentally, I didn't leave the beer cans, the decayed (and stinking) fish or the boxes of fish cleaning residu, so liberally strewn along the banks of this launch site, but I will gladly assist any one in cleaning it up.

To each his own. How you do your thing is your business, how I react to it is mine.

Edy Williams Is Searching For Perfection

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—To say that Edy Williams is a sex kitten is tantamount to calling the Mafia naughty boys.

Edy is so generously endowed with feminine allure, curves, sex appeal and facial beauty she virtually over does it. She admittedly seeks to become a sex goddess.

"I believe in the divinity of the human body," she said. The fact is abundantly clear after a few moments spent with Edy.

"I believe in displaying as much of your physical being as possible, but leaving a little bit to the imagination."

In her search for physical perfection—Edy's already 37-24-37—the youthful actress doesn't smoke or drink.

"Not only that," she added, "I eat carefully and I refuse to take birth control pills."

Soon Becomes Bride

Edy is unmarried, but will soon become the bride of producer-director Russ Meyer.

She co-stars in her fiancé's latest contribution to classic screen art, "Beyond the Valley of the Dolls."

You can tell almost immediately that Edy is not a Bryn Mawr girl, or even a Vassar graduate. She does, in fact, play a pornographic novelist in the picture.

Edy's auburn hair tumbles almost to her waist. Her eyes are luminous, brown and filled with a sort of wise innocence.

Her wardrobe consists of scores of mini-skirts, bare midriff dresses and sweaters that defy description. One need not be a psychiatrist to note that Edy is proud of her assets.

"I can't see why so many girls wear Peter Pan collars and long skirts to cover up their best attributes," Edy said. "And they cut their hair to look like boys. It's crazy."

Share Similar Gifts

It was noted Edy and Raquel Welch shared similar gifts.

"I'd like to work in a picture with Raquel," said Edy. "I like to compete. It makes you a much better person. Anyhow, I admire the way Raquel looks—but she should put in more work on her acting."

Inasmuch as Edy hasn't been an Oscar contender in five previous movies, it seemed unfair she should criticize Raquel.

"She has a nice figure," Edy said. "Maybe we could play sisters."

"My figure opened the door for me in Hollywood. You have to attract attention in this town. You've got to get into the ball game before you have a chance to do any acting."

Edy is in the ball game. Now she wants to get in the starting lineup.

Marrying a producer-director is a step in the right direction.
